Re: Rotacaster Self Supporting Hand Truck

To Whom It May Concern:

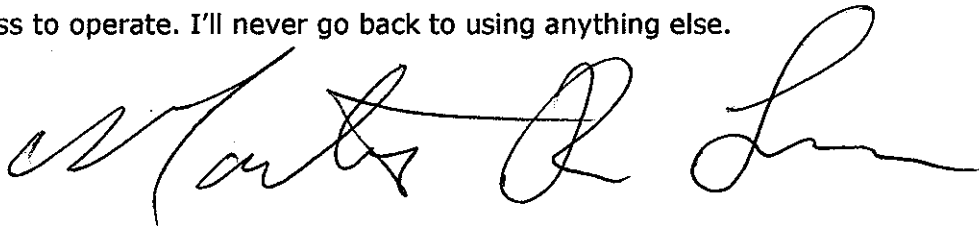

We purchased the Rotacaster Self Supporting Hand Truck some 6 months ago and promised to provide feedback on our experience. We use the Rotacaster hand truck daily and I can tell you we couldn't be happier.

If I had to describe the hand truck in one word it would be 'easy'. We have two existing standard hand trucks which have pretty much sat in the corner untouched since we took delivery of our Rotacaster hand truck. It's the first one we reach for every time we need to move stock.

Prior to owning a Rotacaster self supporting hand truck we used standard two-wheel hand trucks to move heavy cases of beer and wine around the somewhat confined shop and it was such a struggle. Now it's a matter of loading the boxes and letting the Rotacaster hand truck do the rest of the work. The self supporting hand truck bears the load while the multi directional control and tracking capability make it so easy to steer between aisles and around corners. It's easy to see how the risk of strain and serious injury are greatly reduced when using the Rotacaster hand truck.

It's effortless to operate. I'll never go back to using anything else.
